Sunday, January 19, 1992

Reopen records

Shame on the press! Some of the best minds in the news business have gone out of their way to lambaste Oliver Stone and his movie., "JFK."

After the Warren Commission Report was published, several books critical of the report were published. The best of the lot, "Whitewash," by Harold Weisberg, showed that the report was a fraud. Of course it was a conspiracy that assassinated the president. The silly theory of the Warren Commission that a lone conspirator did it was based on the so-called magic bullet theory. No one of any sense believed it.

Stone's movie seems to urge the reopening of an investigation. The Warren report obviously swept the whole thing under the rug. Lyndon Johnson, the succeeding president sealed the records for 75 years. We who were alive when JFK was murdered will all be dead by then.

JOSEPH DISCH
Pleasant Hill